OCTAVIA CHAPPELL

Ocky-Tave,

"There's room for your friends, there's room for your lovers, but poor little me has to write on the cover, (smile)! Well, Ox, I really don't know what to say because there's so much that I can say: "I know you'll (always) always remember the swinging "COLLEGIETTES" | and the fun we had bowling. You'll probably remember cool A. Hamilton you-know-what and our stimulating Earth Space Science class (6th period). Of course, Remember typing in our Junior year with Miss Wger. | Many years from now don't forget Biology and Moore—sy! You'll look back upon our anxieties about college, graduation, and the Prom, and then you'll laugh! Next year, when you go to "AIC" think back and remember your three wonderful years at good 'ol P.H.S. Remember Mr. Otto, your pink skirt, the Tea Room, the Collegiettes, and the fun we have had together in all our classes together. Never forget the 1962-63 "Future Teachers of America"! Here's hoping Graduation and our party come off alright.

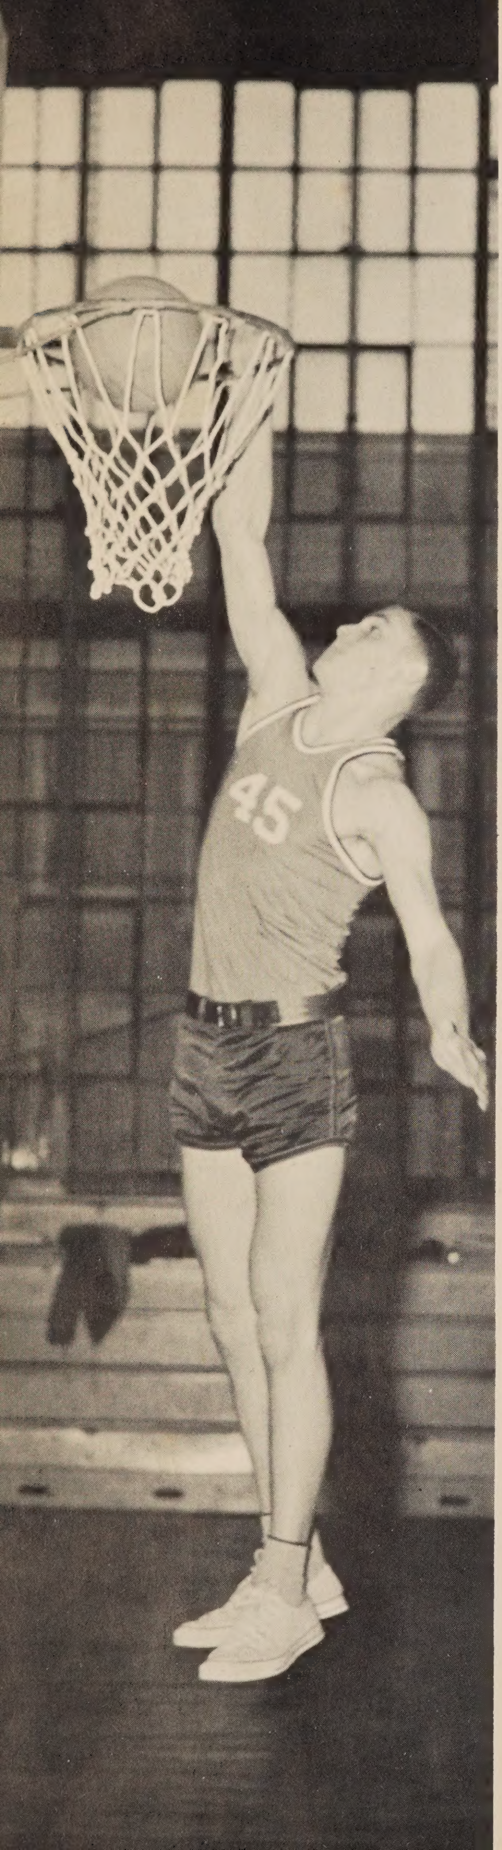
PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHO



Dunking it!

The deadline is met — Miss Rice is smiling!

Plainfield '63

The many moods of student life are each representative of some joy. Every precious moment is lived and then dies, leaving only its mood to be remembered. Although names and faces may be forgotten, the impressions left by the mood of an occasion are nourished by the passing years. Vivid moods mellow, becoming misty symbols of a youth forgotten which evoke from the heart both a smile and a tear.

Moods of Concentration

The mood of concentration — the intangible sensation of gaining knowledge — teacher and student abandoning formality in a quest for truth, and happiness.

COUNSELORS

WALLACE F. GLEASON — Principal

It is during these high school years that hope shines brightest. Youth looks forward to success in college or business. The climb to the heights is long and hard. There are happy times and sadness on occasion as one takes the long walk. If you would reflect over the past three years, you would find many moods which governed your every action. As you grew through many experiences, you became wiser and found that through thoughtful deliberation the most difficult of tasks could be resolved. As you continue through life, be not governed by moods, but by mental concentration, perhaps helped a little by the heart. Music reflects the characteristics of an individual and may be made to act as the language of the heart. Let it be strong, in time with the times, with resonance and brilliance. Your favorite song will change as you take on the appearance of being happy or sad. Look up, smile, enjoy life; for it is but a short time you have to walk here.

On Leaving

This is a school of discovery.
We've discovered the simple joys of youth.
We've discovered the enjoyment of learning.
We've discovered the enjoyment of a victorious football game.
We've discovered the enjoyment of a first prom.

This is a school of people.
We've found classmates with whom we could share experiences.
We've found teachers in whom we could confide.
We've found new friends.

This is a school of memories.
This is a school to be remembered.

Senior Class Council and Officers

The class council took the reins in leading the class of '63 toward the accomplishment of the three main activities confronting each year's senior class. These were the activities underlying the senior play, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," the planning and execution of the senior prom, and the drawing up of the traditional list of senior privileges for faculty approval.

Under the leadership of Don Fraser, senior class president, these activities were carried out successfully.

"People are people everywhere," says Karin Keller, our exchange student from Brazil. Karin says that she feels at home here in the United States. She is happy with everything about this country, but found "Juanita's Concert" most interesting.

Karin, 18 years old, was born in Ijui, Rio Grande du Sul. She said that she had always wanted to study in the United States and plans to continue her education after graduation and go on to teaching in grammar schools of Brazil.

Karin can converse with you in three languages — Portugese, German and English. Karin feels that everyone has tried to make her at home, including the teachers, students, and especially her AFS family, the Carlsons.

Class History '63

The Class of 1963 was a class of firsts. We were the first class to enter Plainfield High School as sophomores. We were the first class that collected dues in order to raise money. (The success of this venture foretold the success of all our P.H.S. years.) When we elected Mary Crowe as our sophomore class president, we became the first class in the history of P.H.S. to have a female class president.

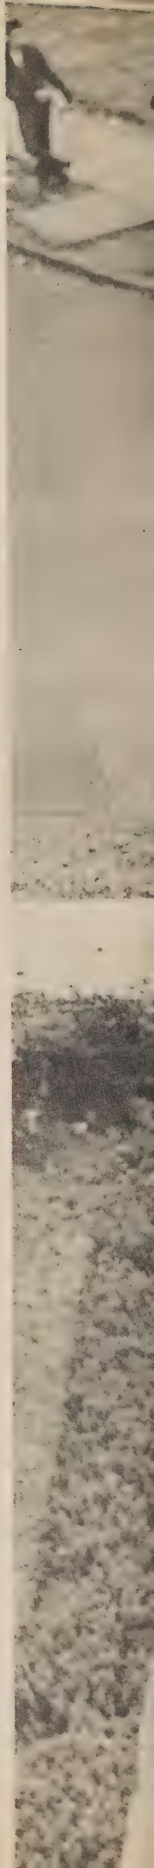
Along with Mary, we elected Carol Belardo as vice-president, Lee Merrill as secretary, and Peter Ciampa as treasurer. Under the tutelage of Mr. Otto, our class advisor, our officers and our class began to function and organized our first money-making event, the sophomore dance, which was successful both monetarily and socially.

In our junior year we were ably led by Peter Ciampa, our president; Walter Frank, our vice-president; Lee Merrill, our secretary; and Alan Sugarman, our treasurer. Once again our coffers were filled by holding the junior dance in February. This Valentine Dance will long be remembered.

In our senior year, we elected Donald Fraser for our president; Arthur Stout, vice-president; Judy Lichtenstein, secretary; and Carol Della Peruti as our treasurer. Don, a busy boy, was also the star of our senior play A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court. The Connecticut Yankee not only was a tremendous financial success, but was also highly praised as one of the most professional and the funniest play ever produced by P.H.S.

Our Senior Prom was the last of the many firsts for the class of 1963. For the first time, we held the prom at the Redwood Inn, where we listened and danced to the Andy Mingione Band.

Soon the senior class will graduate. Thereafter, many of the class of 1963 will scatter all over the world; but no matter what we do, or what we become, we will always remember our wonderful high school years.



Anachronisms, Yankee ingenuity, and several coup d'etats combined to outwit the court of King Arthur in this year's Senior Class Play, the John G. Fuller adaptation of Mark Twain's A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court. The immortal wit and satire of Twain conveyed his views concerning democracy, freedom, government, and international relations.

In the role of the Connecticut Yankee was Donald Fraser. Supporting him were Charles Lustig as King Arthur, Carol Della Peruti as Morgan le Fay, Gail Grimek as Queen Guinevere, and Arthur De Hart Brown as Merlin the Magician.

Juniors

Books, books everywhere, but which are mine?

In anticipation of their senior year, the junior class council has worked especially hard to promote class spirit and enlarge class funds. Under the leadership of Forrester Lee, president, Joe Young, vice-president, Sue Schmidt, secretary, and John Norton, treasurer, the council undertook its first project in December with the successful sale of P.H.S. bracelets. Profits from the class dance, held on February 1, also went toward the treasury as well as class dues, collected from all P.H.S. juniors.

Sophomores

A sophomore looks up to an upperclassman.

The Class of 1965 began its first year in P.H.S. eagerly anticipating the new freedom and privileges of senior high. Responsibilities were not forgotten, however. This was shown by the exciting and suspense-filled campaign for the four offices of class council. Final election results were as follows: president, Dick Gleason; vice-president, Sue Goldman; treasurer, Roger Coven; secretary, Willow Krienke.

When all representatives from sophomore home rooms had been chosen, the council began its work. The members were determined to make their class not only the biggest in Plainfield's history, but the best. First on the agenda was the annual sophomore dance. Five dance committees operated under the supervision of the class advisor Mr. Warren Stirling. Largely through their efforts, the sophomore party was a great success.

The class of 1965 now feels that it has a solid foundation on which to build its achievements in the next two years.

State Sectional Champions

Robert Tice

Jim Comi

The Plainfield High School varsity football team captured Central Jersey Group IV Conference and State Sectional championships. The gridmen rolled up an impressive 7-1-1 log with decisive victories over Westfield and Thomas Jefferson. Plainfield broke Westfield's 23-game undefeated streak when we trounced them 27-7 on Thanksgiving Day.

After a slow and shaky beginning, the Cardinal eleven rolled to five straight conquests. A team effort gained this year's victories. Though John Knight, Bob Tice, and Paul Kiely were named to all-state teams, they were backed up by Richard Taylor, David Walton, Jim Comi, Arnold Shapack, Ray Tice, Scott Lewendon, Everett Ellis, Bill Petties, Tom Glenn, and Norman Krystopik. Injuries plagued the team by taking out key personnel, namely Dick Kinney, Jack Webb, Don Davis, Bruce Buckelew, and Pete Romer. Congratulations to Coaches Abe Smith, Eugene Hubka, Nick Chrisicos, Richard Kern, and Frank Farrel for a job well done.

Harriers in Rebuilding Year

The harriers had an off year, posting a record of 4 wins and 10 defeats. Plainfield placed 9th in the Union County Conference championships, and 25th in the state meet. The lack of experienced runners hurt the team's chances for scoring victories. Coach Bob Schultz can look forward to next year with the return of Mike Barrett, Fil Wood, Steve Dudley, Paul Carey, and Rodney James. Seniors who did fine jobs were John McIver, John Johnson, Bob Hinkel, and John Hibshman.

Wait 'til Next Year

The basketball team had an off year, finishing the season with a 3 and 17 log. Coach Brann's forces couldn't find the right combination and lost 13 straight games. Seniors Richie Taylor and Jack Webb did fine jobs in spite of the dismal record. Rich Taylor scored 294 points to lead the team in that department. The Card quintet can look forward to a better season nert year with the return of these juniors: Mike Barrett, Harry Fisher, Paul Kiely, Reggie Foster, Everett Ellis, and Scott Lewendon.

Year History

Year History

As this school year draws to a close, we find ourselves looking back on all that we have done. The dances, football games, and the surprise history tests all have played a vital role in molding our year.

September: We sadly learned to set the alarm clock at seven again and hopefully looked forward to a great year as we began joining clubs and participating in activities. We welcomed our exchange student. On the international front, Iran was in the throes of a violent earthquake.

October: This month was ushered in with changing leaves and more activities. The Fall Mixer helped start the ball rolling. The United States gained greater prestige when Walter Schirra orbited six times. The Yanks won the world Series. The Cuban Crisis evolved.

November: This month saw the senior class present its highly successful annual play. Elections were held in many school clubs too. Sadly, the whole world mourned the death of Eleanor Roosevelt, one of the most influential women of our time.

December: With the Thanksgiving vacation over, we gaily looked forward to Christmas vacation and sadly took our colloge boards. A choral concert helped brighten the month, and so did the second six-page edition of the Entrée. Mariner II finally reached Venus, supplying us with vital data about that planet. Then the infamous newspaper strike took over the national interest.

January: Fresh with resolutions for a better year, we once again plunged into a pile of work. The "Hall of Fame" brought senior voters to the polls. Rehearsals for the Junior-Senior Play began. Britain, disputing over United States' missiles, faced another rejection, this time from the common market. The mid-winter slump had arrived.

February: The school sponsored a tremendous foreign-exchange weekend; the Junior Dance, held that weekend in honor of our guests, was a big success. A new forensic society became interested in the discussion concerning the lowering of the voting age. Blue Monday—report cards were issued. A very successful Tag Day helped reactivate the PHS students. It was a time for revolt and split as Iraq was torn apart and Diefenbaker's Canadian government collapsed.

March: Spirited voters selected next year's Student Council officers with the help of voting machines. Rehearsals were in effect for the Inter-Class Plays. Tutors found themselves in great demand in the Student Council office. Their first issue having met with great success, Plaintalk editors formed a second issue.

April: This month saw us busily waiting for the college acceptances. The thought of Easter vacation spurred a light in the eyes of the students. The weather began to warm up, and we happily shifted our activities to the great outdoors. New editors were selected for our various literary organizations. All was aglow with the fever of spring.

May: Those summer clothes came into full use as the school year drew to a close. We all enjoyed hearing "The Sound of Music," performed by the choruses at the Spring Festival. The big Senior Prom was a happy experience. Senior madness prevailed, and then came . . .

June: A month of senior privileges, exams, and summer madness. And now, just a few days off, Graduation.

Some people's paths may never cross again. Some will go into business, others to college, trade school, or homemaking. This year somehow marks the end of one phase of our lives, but it is the beginning of a new and better one.
